As One Garden Lover to Another

Let me express the appreciation we feel in having the opportunity of serving you. We present our Garden Book for 1930 with real pride, for it contains what we confidently feel is as fine an assortment of planting as can be found in any nursery in America. It is genuine pleasure to have you look through its pages, study the descriptions of the different varieties, and realize that here is real value in shrubs, trees and flowers.

We trust our friends will look upon the book as our personal representative. It contains the story of our work for the year past, and for many years past—work which we have carried on because we love it, and because we want to share its results with garden lovers everywhere.

"Kentucky Bred"—a Guarantee of Quality

There are flowers and flowers—and still more flowers. Almost anyone can grow them, in one fashion or another. But not everyone can produce the best ones—that's where the rub comes. That's why we ask you to take thought a moment and realize just what "Kentucky Bred" plantings bring you.

"Kentucky Bred"—that's our slogan. It means quality, high quality, in every respect. It describes the kind of plants and flowers we produce, the kind we can conscientiously recommend and supply to our customers. If it's "Kentucky Bred," the class is there, whether it be women, horses, or flowers.

When in Louisville, Don't Fail to Call Upon Us

If ever you have the opportunity, come to see us. Nothing pleases us so much as to have visitors at the Schulz nurseries, for we know only a real interest brings them.

You will be entranced by our fields of magnificent flowering plants and growing shrubs. If it's "Dahlia Time," or "Iris Time," or time when any other special flowers are in bloom, you will be delighted and charmed with the gorgeous and truly inspiring displays.

Remember, Schulz is always at your service. We want our customers to succeed; therein lies our greatest pleasure and satisfaction. We will help you to success, with every means at our command. We will gladly help you plan your plantings, select your specimens, advise you how to grow them best—serve you in every way. Only give us the chance, and we will show you how satisfactory a real flower service can be.

Learn to Know Dahlias

A World of Pleasure Awaits You

We specialize in Dahlias because to us they are the most beautiful of flowers. While others may not entirely agree with this opinion, it must be admitted that they are without doubt the most beautiful of late summer's flowers. No garden, no matter how small or how large, is complete without a fair representation of these most gorgeous blooms.

History of the Dahlia

From the years 1571 to 1577 a Spanish physician, one Hernandez, resided in old Mexico. Like other professional men of his time, his interests were broad. No doubt his practice was limited, for he found time to write an extensive work on the animal and plant life of the country.

Some years afterwards, one Reccho brought Dr. Hernandez's work back to Europe with him and published it in Rome. The book contained among other interesting and unusual descriptions of plant and animal life, a brief mention, description and illustration of the plant "Acocotli." His comments lead us to believe that the plant described was the Dahlia. It grew wild in the sandy soil of that country and in single form. This is the first known reference to the flower.

In 1791, Cavanilles, another Spaniard and botanist of note published a technical botanical description of a flower he had grown from seed brought from Mexico. He called it "Dahlia Pinnatta," "Dahlia" after a young Swedish botanist, Andreas Dahl, who had been Cavanilles' student and who had died just two years previous.

Such was the start of the Dahlia in Europe. In the early part of the nineteenth century the Dahlia was introduced into England and France and began to be extensively grown. From the single blossom of "Acocotli" with its yellow disk center and scarlet rays, the various forms of the Dahlia have developed until now we have not only single blossoms in a profusion of colors but a large variety of shapes and forms, each one in as many different colors. Each year brings added varieties from growers, each a new prize to treasure. The Dahlia has become the most loved of all late summer flowers. There is a shape and form for each taste and a color for every mood.

The Culture of the Dahlia

The Dahlia thrives in an open, sunny location, though they will succeed in partial shade in some instances. They will grow in any kind of soil, but a rich, sandy loam is the best. To enrich poor ground in the fall spade in well-rotted manure or decayed vegetation. Use bone meal at planting time, working it well into the soil. Spade the soil thoroughly as deep as possible before the tuber is planted.

Planting. Dahlias are planted in the spring. It is safe to plant them any time after the danger of frost is over. They usually blossom in from six to eight weeks after planting time. It is a good plan to start planting early and plant tubers about one to two weeks apart up until the middle or late part of

Decorative and Peony-Flowered

May. When ready to plant place stout stakes at least three feet apart, four feet is better; then dig the holes about six inches deep and place the bulb in a horizontal position with the sprout end two inches from the stake. Never stand the bulb on end. This method of planting is known as the "stake" method and is the most successful for general results.

Cultivation. For the most beautiful flowers cultivate often. Keep the soil loose around young plants. Do not permit it to bake or harden. After each rain cultivate them to keep the ground in good condition and prevent weed growth. Later in the season when the fine, silky roots come to the surface stop cultivation and put a mulch of some kind around the plant to retain moisture and protect the small roots.

Training the Plant. After several sprouts appear remove all but one or two from each plant. When they are sufficiently above the ground to show three or four leaves, pinch out the center stem. This will cause branches to grow from the laterals and produce a strong, bushy plant. At this time they should be securely tied to the stake with twine or some soft material. Continue the tying as the plant grows so that it will not be broken down by wind or other causes.

For Large Blooms. For extra large blooms remove the first set of side shoots from the first bud with a sharp knife. This forces the plant life that would have gone into the two side shoots into the first bud, making an extra large flower, much larger and giving a good stem. For exhibition purposes disbud every side shoot down the entire length of the stalk. The one flower that you will get from the plant will be of gigantic size.

Forcing for Exhibition. To produce the finest flowers for exhibition purposes, plant three to five feet apart, using a liberal amount of manure or fertilizers: cultivate frequently; apply fertilizer or manure, broadcast or liquid form, at each or every other hoeing; and disbud, making applications very effective for forcing. Apply when plants are in bud, making applications often, but do not use too much at a time. Apply nitrate of soda in crystal form on top of the ground, or in liquid form, using one tablespoon of nitrate of soda crystals to a gallon of water, using sprayer or watering can.

When the flower-buds appear, only one bud should be allowed to come to maturity, enabling each branch to produce one exceptionally fine, perfect flower. The flowers, for quality, must not be allowed to receive the drenching rains or scalding sun when nearing full bloom and should be protected from such.

It is always advisable to cut flowers that are to be exhibited as late as possible at night when the dew is on them, placing them in water and keeping them as cool as possible over night, thereby enabling them to withstand handling, packing and transportation.

Watering. Use very little water until flowering buds appear, after which plants can be thoroughly watered about once a week. Soak the ground until moist at least six inches deep. Rake over the surface the following day. This conserves moisture and lets in air and sunshine.

Harvesting. As soon as the frost kills the foliage and the strength of the stalk recedes into the tubers, harvest your Dahlias. Dig them up carefully, do not pull them up. After removing the clump from the ground, shake gently to remove the soil that will naturally fall off. Cut off at tops two or three inches from the clumps. Lay them in the sun and air for about an hour or two. Pack in a cool, frost-proof place having an average temperature of about 45 to 55 degrees. The cellar provides the best place for their storage. It is a good plan to insulate them from furnace and frost with burlap, paper or canvas. This excludes the air and preserves an even temperature. This is very important, as bulbs will shrivel and dry up if not properly taken care of.

Dividing the Clumps. Divide the clumps in the spring. The dividing should be done carefully with a sharp knife or coping saw and particular care should be taken to avoid the necks of the tubers. The eyes of the tubers are easily recognized. Cut the tubers so that there is at least one eye on each division of the clump.

To Preserve Cut Flowers. Flowers should be cut late in the afternoon or early in the morning. Place tips of the stems in water for about twenty seconds while boiling on the stove and immediately plunge the tips deep into cold water. If blooms droop prematurely place stems deep in hot water and allow them to remain until the water cools. This will usually revive them. A pinch of salt in the water helps.

Classification of Dahlias. We follow the classification of Dahlias as adopted by the American Dahlia Society. Under the different headings and classifications the names and their application as recently defined by the American Dahlia Society follow:

Single. Open-centered flowers, small to very large, with 8 to 12 floral rays (petals) more or less in one circle, margins often decurved or revolute (turned down or backward).

Collarette. Of single type, with not more than nine large floral rays, but with a circle of smaller, narrower, usually different colored, rays standing at base or in front of larger rays and forming a collar between them and open center.

Duplex. Semi-double flowers; center almost exposed on opening of bud, rays more than twelve, in more than one circle, long and flat, or broad and rounded, not noticeably twisted or curled. Many Dahlias previously classed as Peony-flowered belong here.

Peony-flowered. Flowers are semi-double, having two, three or more rows of broad, flat, loosely arranged rays or petals, surrounding an open center, which is usually a conspicuous golden-yellow, the inner floral rays being usually curled or twisted, the outer rays either flat, or more or less irregular. Sometimes the rays are pointed, occasionally they curl and twist over the center.

Decorative. Double flowers, full to the center, early in the season at least, flat rather than ball-shaped, with broad, flat, somewhat loosely arranged floral rays with broad points or rounded tips which are straight or decurved (turndown or back), not incurved, and with margins revolute, if rolled at all.

Ball Shaped, Double. Full to the center.

(A) Show Type. Flowers globular or ball-shaped, rather than broad or flat, full to the center, showing regular spiral arrangement of florets, with floral rays or petals more or less quilled or with their margins involute (rolled forward or inward) and rounded tip (Dahlias of this type with flowers spotted, variegated or parti-colored, were formerly classed as Fancy, a group no longer recognized).

(B) Hybrid Show, Giant Show or Colossal Type. Flowers fully double, broadly hemispherical to flatly globular in form, loosely built so spiral arrangement of florets is not immediately evident; floral rays broad, heavy, cupped or quilled, with rounded tips and more or less involute margins. Verging toward the Decorative Class and sometimes found classed with the Decoratives.

(C) Pompon Type. Same shape and form as A and B, but flowers must be under 2 inches in diameter.

Cactus. Double flowers.

(A) True Fluted Type. Flowers fully double, floral rays or petals long, narrow, incurved or twisted, with sharp, divided or fluted points and with margins revolute (rolled backward or outward), forming in the outer florets a more or less perfect tube for more than half the length of the ray or petal.

(B) Hybrid Cactus. Flowers fully double, floral rays (petals) short as compared with previous type; broad, flat, recurved or twisted, not sharply pointed except when tips are divided (staghorn), margins only slightly revolute, and tubes of outer florets less than half the length of the ray or petal. This type intergrades with the Decorative and Peony-flowered classes.

Schulz Special Spring Catalog

Each year, about the last part of June or early part of July, we get out a special catalog of bulbs for fall planting. While smaller than the regular "Kentucky Bred" Garden Book, still it is a beautiful little catalog full of money-saving hints and timely suggestions for planting. Don't fail to send for it during the summer. Get the latest low prices on spring flowers.

Announcing the New Schulz Flower Store

BUYING habits of people change almost overnight. A great many businesses have been entirely reorganized because of this particular trait of humankind. We get started on one thing when along comes something new which changes our lives completely.

We had this brought very close to us just lately. For very many years we had our shop at 550 South Fourth Avenue, Louisville. There, years ago, people came to the shop for flowers, or people dropped in to pick out pieces for parties or funerals. It was thought necessary for success that a florist business must be located as centrally as possible. But with the increasing use of the telephone and automobile, buying habits of people have changed in a marvelous way. More and more people ordered flowers over the telephone, and our trade came not only from people who happened to live near the downtown Louisville, but from people who lived on the outskirts, who drove down to choose flowers.

Another difficulty arose—the question of parking while shopping in the downtown district. Accordingly, after long deliberation, we are leaving our location on Fourth Avenue, have leased our property there and have built a model flower shop and greenhouses out on Bardstown Road, on one corner of the Schulz Dahlia Farm, a short drive from the center of Louisville.

We can deliver now as quickly to nearly every part of town as we could when we had our central location. Furthermore, our friends who come to see us now can choose nursery stock right from the fields as easily as they chose flowers from vases in the downtown shop.

The illustration above shows our building completed. Please note

we are all dressed up for Christmas with signs on the windows advertising Christmas wreaths. Hundreds of motorists driving by have stopped to buy their Christmas decorations here this year.

You can get an idea from this illustration of the beautiful architecture of this building. The greenhouses attached are the finest and most modern in our vicinity. They are big enough to care for our needs for quite a while, and naturally the land provides for necessary expansion as business continues to grow. The main floor of this building is given over to reception hall and sales floor; the second floor is given over to the offices of the Jacob Schulz Co., Inc., where your letters go, where your orders are entered and where supervision of the machinery which supplies you with "Kentucky Bred" flowers is carried on.

We heartily invite you to see our new home. We are immensely proud of it and welcome the opportunity to show it to you. Be sure to come and see us when you are in Louisville.

There's Pleasure and Profits in Growing "Kentucky Bred" Dahlias

Perhaps you have always thought of Dahlias only in terms of pleasure to yourself and family. There are many women and men too, who grow Dahlias for the extra money they receive from the sale of cut plants and even from the tubers their friends and neighbors buy. One of our customers, Mrs. A. A. Morrow, of Zanesville, Ohio, is growing Dahlias for profits as well as for the pleasure she gets out of a beautiful garden. Mrs. Morrow says of "Kentucky Bred" Dahlias:

"The bulbs I purchased from you were wonderful."

Decorative Dahlia, Shudow's Lavender

KENTUCKY CARDINAL

One of our own original "Kentucky Bred" Dahlias originated by Mr. G. E. Schulz. A remarkable Dahlia. As charming and vivacious as the bird whose name it bears.

Garden and Home Builder says of it:

"At last someone has fittingly used the name made famous by James Lane Allen. It is fitting that a Kentucky originator has chosen this name for a good Dahlia. Kentucky Cardinal won the American Dahlia Society Certificate of Merit in 1926. It is a bright scarlet Decorative that holds its color under sunshine, and an excellent grower. This is the first time a Kentucky origination has got into the Honor Roll."

We have a limited stock this year and are offering it in our catalog.

Testimonial

Jacob Schulz Co.

211 Central Ave., East Point, Ga.
January 6, 1929.

In the fall of 1927 I bought from your agent at the fair: 1 "Jersey Beauty," 2 "Jean Kern," 1 "Kitty Dunlap," and they proved to be fine—especially the Jersey Beauty and Jean Kern.

As I told you I had only one "Jersey Beauty" but have never seen so many large flowers from one stalk. It was the talk of the town. The stalk grew ten feet high. I guess the soil perhaps had lots to do with it, but anyway I wanted you to know what success I had with my Jersey Beauty and that I think your bulbs are far superior to others I have tried.

Very best,

Mrs. W. E. Orr.

Rosa Hugonis

This rose is a spectacular show in itself. Every branch of the previous year's growth becomes lined on both sides to the very tip with closely set, wide open, single flowers, like dainty yellow hollyhocks and the branches bend over with the weight of the bloom.

A symmetrical bush about six feet in height and the same in diameter when matured. Even when through blooming it is a beautiful shrub.

Mr. Schulz:—
Kind Sir:

I wish to thank you for sending me such a lovely Rose Hugonis. I bought it two years ago, last spring it bloomed some, but this year it was gorgeous. Passersby stopped to admire it, blooming with my Spirea Van Houtie

Most respectfully,

Mr. Robt. J. Scott

Hardy Chrysanthemums

After the frost has taken all other flowers, the Hardy Chrysanthemum greets us with an abundance of blooms of various hues and colors. It is one of the most satisfactory and popular Fall Flowering Plants. Frost will not harm the blooms, and plants are easily grown, making a fine addition to any garden. The most satisfactory way to carry the plants through the winter is by placing them in cold frames, although they can be successfully handled by planting them in a well drained position and covering with a good mulching of leaves or loose litter. The varieties listed below usually begin flowering about the last of August and continue during October and November. All of our plants are sent out of 2 1/4-inch pots and we begin making delivery in April, continuing until July 1st. Price for good strong plants.....

Lawn Grass ~

In making a lawn, if the soil is naturally rich, all that is necessary is that it be well spaded, making it as fine and mellow as possible. Otherwise, a good dressing of well-rotted manure should be spaded in and mixed with the soil. The next requisite is good seed of the right varieties, sown at the rate of 60 to 100 pounds per acre. The more freely the seed is used the quicker a thick, velvet-like turf may be secured.

There is no question about the quality of grass seed which is offered our customers—it is of the very best grade to be secured.

Discarded All Other Bulbs

September 8, 1927.

I ordered dahlia bulbs from you this spring and am very pleased with them, now while the blooming season is at its best. I have noticed other friends and neighbors who have paid more for theirs than I did. I have discarded the bulbs that I had before I bought from you, because there was too much difference. Some I have had to bloom from 8 to 10 inches and very good blooms of your bulbs. Am making up my list for the next season to come, with Schulz's bulbs.

Gladioli

There's nothing that goes farther toward making a home out of a house than flowers both in the garden and about the rooms. There is no flower that will go farther in beautifying the garden than the gladiolus. Their sharp vivid coloring together with variety of form and color have made them one of the most popular flowers of today. They are easy to grow, require a minimum of attention and thrive well in most any kind of soil. The ideal way to plant them is to start in late April and plant a number each week or ten days until mid June. They will bloom in your garden from July until frost. As cut flowers they are far superior to any Summer bloomer for lasting qualities. Glads hold another advantage that means a great deal to the average garden enthusiast; they are so reasonable in price that a comprehensive display may be had for an extremely modest investment. Plant them in beds or in borders, they'll start blooming after Peonies and Irises are gone. The "Kentucky Bred" varieties offered here are the pick of hundreds of varieties now on the market.

Hardy Vines and Climbers

Vines bring up memories of shaded porches and moonlight; there's a touch of romance connected with them in the minds of most of us. Poets and songwriters have sought inspiration from honeysuckle, clematis and ivy. Certainly no more softening influence can be given to a house than vines planted wisely. "Kentucky Bred" vines are hardy and easy to grow. They are reasonable in price, too. We'll be glad to advise with you about the quantity or kinds that you need for your purpose.

Flowering Shrubs

There are any number of places around your place where flowering shrubs would fit in and not only make it more beautiful, but increase the value materially. These Schulz shrubs we offer are not only desirable for Summer, but many of them will provide color and life to your home throughout the Winter. Shrubs planted as foundation plantings add grace and charm to the exterior of your house. A hedge gives privacy and protection with beauty as well. Evergreens

Evergreens are indispensable to a well rounded planting scheme. The main point in their favor is the fact that they provide a warm, live green color during months when no trees and only a few shrubs show any color at all. Evergreens are ideal for windbreaks, for ornamental planting, both formal and informal, and for a screen to shut out any undesirable view. Schulz evergreens are well known for their exceptional hardiness and fine appearance. We exercise extreme care in growing and are especially careful to pack and ship so that the tree is in the best possible condition when it reaches the customer. Turn to the center spread and note the care with which the man is digging and burlapping the small evergreen. Every tree gets the same attention.

Thanking you for service rendered, I remain,

Is Gardening Your Hobby?

IN THESE days of hustle and bustle when living goes so fast, work claims most of our time and attention. There is an old saying, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." It applies to business men and housewives today just as it does to children. We all need an avocation or hobby to go along with our regular work. It is good to come home from the office or the shop from the every-day grind and to forget it all working in the soil, planting, cultivating and caring for growing things. You don't need a big space to have a garden that you can really enjoy. You can accomplish wonders in a limited space. It may be only a few square feet, but planned judiciously, it will give a great deal of pleasure and beauty.

Gardening is a real exercise. It is a change that everyone needs. It has always seemed a garden is the soul of the home. Without a garden, the home lacks something. Beautify your home outside with beds and borders, inside with cut flowers all through the season.

The garden makes a wonderful place for your children to live and play in during the warmer months. The garden brings happiness, health and satisfaction.

Your Home is Worth More

A small investment in trees, shrubs, plants and flowers will increase the value of your estate as much as 25 per cent. Notice the houses that you see along the streets of your town, village or city. Those that have grounds artistically planned and carried out are the nicest homes, the homes you would care to live in. Ask your real estate man about it. He will confirm our word. Don't forget our landscape offer. We will be glad to plan your home grounds in order to make them more beautiful and attractive. The best part of it is, when you buy plants, shrubs or trees from Schulz you don't have to spend a fortune for them. Our direct selling plan saves you money. You cannot buy equal quality for less price any place.

Iris ~

For delicacy and exquisite combinations of color there is no flower that excels the Iris. Connoisseurs and garden enthusiasts find a wealth of pleasure and interest in the hundreds of shapes and colors of Irises. Many have referred to it as the poor man's orchid. The varieties we offer are some of the most popular and highly treasured of the known kinds.

Hundreds of our customers have written us telling of the wonderful results they get from "Kentucky Bred" rhizomes. There is something in the exceptional climate and soil of our Louisville location that makes for hardier and more beautiful plants. Try for yourself, you'll find that Irises from Schulz have an added touch of beauty lacking in many others. Learn to know the better varieties of these aristocrats of spring flowers. Study their description before ordering. Get the color and kind that will most suit your taste and needs. Plant them in borders, or clumps, they will thrive under many adverse conditions. Note in the descriptions given hereafter.

Planting and Cultural Directions— Schulz "Garden Tips"

Roses

The most important factor in successful rose culture is the soil. Roses prefer heavy soil, although with proper care, they can be grown in light soils. The bed preparation is similar to the preparation for other plants, being worked to a depth of 18 inches. A well-prepared, heavy soil feels crumbly when taken in the hand. This crumbly structure is easily maintained by frequent cultivation at times when the soil is not soaked with water. Well-rotted manure is the best fertilizer for roses, and should be worked into the soil before planting. Although much moisture is required for rose culture, they will not stand "wet feet" of standing water. Artificial drainage may be necessary.

Planting

When the roses arrive, unpack them immediately. If they can not be planted at the time, they may be "heeled in." This consists of digging a trench, in which the plants are placed in a slanting position, close together, and soil packed around the roots to keep out the air. The roots will need lots of water, to be sure that none dry out. If you have ordered a goodly number of plants, it is advisable to heel them all in before planting, and then remove a few as needed. The important thing is to keep the roots damp or wet. A dried root will die.

Plant the roses about two inches below the crown, or below the point where the first branches rise. Be sure the roots are well spread, and that the soil is well packed around them to keep out the air. Water each plant thoroughly. Hybrid perpetuals may be planted 2½ to 3 feet apart; teas 1½ to 2 feet apart, and ramblers 5 to 6 feet.

Cultivation

During the growing season, keep the top soil well worked, and in dry weather, give enough water to reach the bottom roots. Roses are usually pruned in April, when the weak shoots are cut out, and the growth of the strong ones are cut back considerably. Always cut to an outside eye. It is better to prune Tea Roses the latter part of April. Leave 3 to 4 strong branches with 4 to 6 eyes on each branch.

The "Home Sweet Home" house, used as a model home in Better Homes demonstrations throughout the country. The charming border of old-fashioned perennials is thoroughly in keeping with the architectural style of the house.

Perennials

Like most other garden plants, the perennials do best in a rich, moist soil, where there is plenty of sunlight. A good seed bed preparation, with plenty of manure, and constant cultivation after the plants are up, all help with the success of the garden. Enough kinds should be planted to provide continuous blooming all through the season, at the same time avoiding striking color contrasts. A richer effect may be had by planting in groups of five or more of a kind, rather than singly.

The distance between plants will vary with the size and effect desired. The larger plants, of course, will have more room. Good planting seasons are in April and May or September and October.

Frequent cultivation and watering will help perennials. It is advisable to cover the bed with a few inches of straw in the winter, to guard against alternate freezing and thawing. This may be applied after the ground has frozen.

Peonies

Peonies will thrive in most any soil, providing it is well fertilized and worked up. Good soil preparation consists in digging it up to a depth of 18 inches and mixing in about 10% of well-rotted manure and leaf mold. A deep, loose soil for planting holds the moisture longer, contains more air, and gives the roots a better chance to spread out and find nourishment. All of these are essential to successful garden culture. It is easier to keep soils in a "friable" condition when there is plenty of organic matter present, such as manure and leaf mold. These are necessary both for their plant food and their physical aid in cultivation.

Planting

Peony roots may be planted in early spring, as soon as the frost is out of the ground, or in the fall. If planted in the fall, they will need protection their first winter. A covering of four inches of leaves will serve very well. Plant the roots about three inches deep in the well-worked seed bed, from 2 to 3 feet apart.

Cultivation

Peonies are very hardy and will need no winter protection after their first winter. In fact, they will grow and give beautiful blooms with only the minimum care the year around. However, they respond to the careful cultivation of the garden lover with larger and more brilliant flowers. The essence of this cultivation is to keep the soil rich and friable, beginning in early spring, as soon as the ground becomes workable. Well-rotted manure or bone meal may be worked into the soil to a depth of two inches in the spring, being careful to keep any fertilizer away from the crown. Peonies like plenty of watering. If large flowers are desired, pick off the lateral buds. This throws the strength into the top buds.

A Good Example of Base Planting to Fit in with the Architecture of the House.

Gladioli

A good, rich loam soil is best for "glads." A little effort in fertilizing will be amply repaid in the abundance of blossoms. For heavy soils, plant the bulbs four inches deep, and for lighter soils, five to six inches deep. A good way is to dig a row or bed to the desired depth, thoroughly pulverizing the soil in the bottom, and working in well-rotted manure, or a liberal amount of good fertilizer. Hen manure will give good results, but is rather strong, and should be covered with an inch of fine soil. Plant the bulbs and cover to the desired depth.

Cultivation

As soon as the shoots poke their heads through the ground, cultivation may begin. Cultivation at least once a week until flowering time will aid materially in the size and number of blossoms. Watering also helps, especially during dry spells.

In the fall, after the stems have turned brown, the bulbs may be dug and stored in a cool cellar for the winter. Frost or drying heat will kill the bulbs. After they have been stored six weeks, the tops may be cut off.

Irises

The sunny, well-drained locations are best for Irises. The soil, of course should be rich. Manuring, or other fertilizers such as bone meal or finely ground limestone may be worked into the soil, but kept away from the Rhizomes. The plants will not live in standing water, or a wet soil.

Planting

After the bed has been well prepared, plant the Rhizomes just below the surface, spreading out the roots, and packing the dirt well around them. Irises are always planted shallow, and are injured by manures and fertilizers that are too strong. Although the best time to plant is August and September, giving the roots time to develop before winter, they may be planted any time of year, except when in bloom, or when the ground is frozen.

Cultivation

Irises are very hardy, and easy to cultivate. They will, however, respond to occasional cultivation and fertilization. Since Irises naturally multiply into large clumps from season to season, making it hard to keep out the grass and root rot, it is advisable to dig them up every four or five years, separate, remove the weeds, and reset. The best time to do this is after the blooming season.

Evergreens

On the whole, sandy soils are best for evergreens, although only a few are adapted to poor soils. They prefer a rich, well-drained, sandy loam.

The one thing to watch in transplanting evergreens is to keep the roots wet. If they are a little dry when they arrive, wet them, and keep them well dampened until they are in the soil, and follow the planting with plenty of water. If they can not be planted the day they arrive, dig a trench and cover the roots tightly with burlap and a few inches of dirt and water. To plant, dig a hole twice as large as is necessary, and fill with good loam until there is just room enough for the roots. Place the tree in the hole, and remove the bag after it is in. Spread out the roots if they are not in a ball of dirt. Fill in with good loam soil, packing it tight, and watering considerably. The ground around the tree should be thoroughly soaked twice a week.

Shade Trees and Shrubs

Deciduous tree requirements are very much the same as evergreens, except that there is more variation in soil requirements. However, a rich soil, with plenty of watering, is desirable in all plants. If the trees are large and are likely to be blown over easily, it is best to brace them with guy wires, taking care to have the tree well protected where the wire is fastened. Prune the tops after planting. Cut out interfering branches and about one-third of the previous year's growth.
